The total number of academic teachers employed in Medical Faculties I and II which conduct medical studies in Polish and English language amounts to 750.

Among them there are: 104 professors, 115 assistant professors, 139 adjuncts, 181 assistants with PhD degree, 117 assistants without PhD degree, 83 senior lecturers, 10 lecturers and 1 instructor.

They have scientific degrees of philosophy doctor, doctor habilitatus or scientific titles of professor in medicine or dentistry.

International cooperation

The University continuously seeks to develop learning process and teaching techniques. Therefore, it broadens the cooperation with foreign institutions and universities in terms of joint research, joint participation in international programs and research projects as well as in joint publications and scientific conferences, exchange of students and teachers. PUMS cooperates with many foreign institutions from the whole world, including Universities in Rennes and Nancy (France), Berlin, Halle, Kiel, Nürnberg, Mainz, Munchen Regensburg (Germany), Linkoping (Sweden), Oslo University College and Agder University College (Norway), Perugia (Italy), University of Illinois in Chicago, Indiana University in Bloomington, Widener University, Chester Pennsylvania and University of Pennsylvania (USA), The University of Edinburgh (United Kingdom), Kaohsiung Medical University (Taiwan) and others.

Competency based curriculum

Poznan University of Medical Sciences began the careful planning of an exciting new medical curriculum, a competency based curriculum. In this curriculum, students are given specific subject matter and clinical objectives and outcomes by the faculty. Consequently, expectations and evaluations for students both in the basic sciences and in the clinics are made very clear. In addition, students will be instructed in communication skills, professionalism, interpretation and use of the scientific literature, diagnostic and treatment skills, rapport building with patients, sensitivity to moral, ethical, cultural, and social issues and life-long learning skills. Students will also receive training in problem based learning through extensive use of clinical vignettes in their basic sciences. The implementation of this curriculum, to be put into place in the fall of 2009, will make our Medical School a unique institution for students looking for a strong academic program where academic and clinical expectations are clearly defined. Such a curriculum will greatly increase the value of the degree at Poznan University of Medical Sciences and facilitate good residency placement.

Accreditation

The University is widely recognized around the world. English language programs are accredited, among other institutions, by the Polish Ministry of Health (Department of Science and Higher Education), the US Department of Education, Educational Commission on Foreign Medical Graduates (ECFMG), National Board of Medical Examiners, loan institutions in USA, Canada and Scandinavia. Last year our English language programs were granted accreditation by the Medical Board of California (July 2008) .

Graduates around the world

Many University staff members serve on the boards of professional and scientific associations and are invited to act as advisers by the WHO and IAEA. MD and PhD degrees awarded at the University enjoy wide international recognition. At present more than 1200 graduates of the University practice or research abroad. Many of them are outstanding clinical specialists and heads of hospital departments in Europe, North America, South Africa and elsewhere. Recently, a team led by dr Maria Siemionow, a graduate and professor of surgery of Poznan University of Medical Sciences, has performed a landmark face transplant in Cleveland Clinic, USA.

Alumni Association

Inauguration of Alumni Association of English Programs' graduates took place in May 2007 during a special dinner organized to celebrate the 10th graduating class of English Programs.

In April 2009 a solemn meeting of the University's Alumni was held in the Polish Embassy in Washington D.C. At this meeting the authorities of PUMS presented a proposal of setting up the Alumni Association in the U.S with the following goals:

- sustaining contact with the University
- opening possibilities for further scientific cooperation and professional development of Alumni
- establishing contacts of Alumni with our students and supporting the ablest of them.

More information on the Association's activities will be available at the University website at www.pums.ump.edu.pl (under section: Information for Graduates).
